CANDIDATE REFLECTIONS:

What did you learn about leadership from completing this field experience? How did this learning relate to the knowledge, skills and dispositions required of an educational leader? How did it enhance your ability to lead?

I learned that you need to make reasonable timelines and that you should respect other people's time. As of right now, I have scheduled afternoon meetings but once the team is established we can decide together when we want to meet.

Did (or could) this field experience impact student learning? If so, how?

This impacts student learning because we will looking at the data to help increase student achievement. By creating the data team, it is setting the school up to support the students in a more effective manner.

How could this field experience be modified to make it more meaningful and relevant to aspiring educational leaders?

I feel like it is already meaningful.
